TUESDAY 16 JUNE

1 Kings 21:17-end Psalm 51:1-9 Matthew 5:43-end

WEDNESDAY 17 JUNE

2 Kings 2:1. 6-14 Psalm 31:21-end Matthew 6:1-6. 16-18

THURSDAY 18 JUNE

Ecclesiasticus 48:1-14 or Isaiah 63:7-9 Psalm 97:1-8 Matthew 6:7-15

FRIDAY 19 IUNE

2 Kings 11:1-4. 9-18. 20 Psalm 132:1-5. 11-13 Matthew 6:19-23

SATURDAY 20 JUNE

2 Chronicles 24:17-25 Psalm 89:25-33 Matthew 6:24-end

REFLECTION

Our psalms this week map a familiar journey from penitence to assurance. As we begin, there is a reminder that, simply in turning towards God, the psalmist is confirming an existing relationship: "to you l pray..." Sometimes ninety nine per cent of faith is simply turning up.

Even when we're overwhelmed by failure and sin, what counts is to keep the conversation going. So the burdensome grief that weighs down the "Miserere" (which means "have mercy" rather than "I'm very miserable," as one small chorister proclaimed) is balanced by a confidence that God can and will act to make things better. No matter what we've done, and how we might feel, the awesome God, whose power shapes creation, offers "steadfast love" to those who recognise that they belong to God's family.

Stained-glass window depicting a square notation used in Gregorian chant. Benedictine monastery in Erie, Pennsylvania,

Sometimes, we seem to need to confirm our own credentials.

"Remember in David's favour all the hardships he endured" is less a reminder to God than a reassurance to the psalmist that, despite everything, he has tried to get things right and God has made promises which will be honoured, come what may. Our hope is not in our human fallibility but in God's faithfulness always.

Holy God, though we feel small and unworthy of your love, we trust that your promises stand firm for ever. Though we may deserve punishment, we know that your love is unshakeable, your forgiveness swift and sure. Keep us walking with you, and give us courage to turn to you, even when we despair of ourselves.

rp@rpbooks. .co.uk rpbooks.

PART IV -ENJOYING THE JOURNEY

ohn Witcombe continues his account of climbing Kilimanjaro.

The Lemosho route on Kilimaniaro winds through tropical rainforest before ascending through mountain heath, moorland, alpine desert and ultimately the completely barren summit zone, where nothing can grow except the hardiest lichens - some of the slowest growing and oldest living things on earth.

Starting out through the forest, we were thrilled with glimpses of the feathery tails of black and white Colobus monkeys in the trees. Steamy and teeming with life, this is like the beginning of any great journey, full of mystery and wonder. Giant tree ferns shelter extraordinary indigenous flowers, like the unique Impatiens Kilimanjaro, springing from the undergrowth. The going was quite easy, and at our first campsite we settled happily into our new tent homes.

Over the next eight days we made our way up and down the long south side of the mountain, acclimatising by "walking high, sleeping low". Jackal droppings and buffalo tracks told of night-time visitors to our campsite but we never saw them. The mountain was often elusive, appearing in the early morning, yet swathed in cloud by ten o'clock. But the flowers were incredible, with giant lobelia hiding tiny purple flowers in huge succulent leaf heads, and "everlasting flowers" evolved to withstand extremes of temperature and lack of moisture, exploding with colour among the rocks.

I had not expected such variety, or such beauty. I thought this was a journey about a destination, but it turned out it was all about the journey after all. Looking around us, taking it all in, having to walk slowly because of the altitude, keeping pace with the music streaming through my "magic beanie" hat, I was in a new sort of heaven.

Journeys can be like that. We can be taken by surprise by the most mundane surroundings if our pace is slow enough to take everything in, to truly inhabit the gift of each minute. Guides on Kili say "pole, pole" (pronounced "polay, polay") – it means "slow, slow". For me, on this mountain, that was part of the gift.

SUSTAINING YOU THROUGH THE WEEK

> Edited by Caroline Hodgson and Heather Smith

First week after Trinity

Monday 15 June to Saturday 20 June 2020

The Priory Church of the Holy Trinity, Micklegate, York Weekly Pew Sheet (14 to 20 June)

The church building is closed, and there are no acts of public worship at the moment due to the coronavirus outbreak. During this time, we have two ways you can join in prayer services from home or work – see below. For those at home, the weekly pew sheet and service book will be posted to you. If you have internet access, both are available online. You can join from 5 minutes before the start time.

To join by calling from your telephone

Please see the details under each service. Dial the number and when asked to, enter the meeting ID.

To join if you have internet access

Join via clicking the Zoom link (under each service below) or go to our Facebook page Holy Trinity York and watch the video.

How to contact us from 7 to 14 June

During this time, if it is urgent you can contact Mark Wharfedale: shadowmw@me.com or 07595 189781

A Prayer for Archbishop Sentamu

God of our Pilgrimage, we give you thanks for your blessings to us all through the ministry of Archbishop Sentamu. In days of change: strengthen his faith, bless him with joyful hope and fill him and his family with your love through Christ our Bright Morning Star. Amen.

No service on Sunday 14 June

Monday 15 June - Compline at 7pm

Readings: Psalm 134; Hebrews 13: 20-21

Music: Taizé Kyrie and Ubi caritas Dial-in number: 0131 460 1196 Meeting ID: 996 4371 7243

Join from your computer, smartphone or tablet

Wednesday 17 June - Coffee morning 10am-11am

As we are all in our homes, our coffee morning is now on Zoom and telephone. Come along and catch up with everyone.

Join from your computer, smartphone or tablet

Dial-in number: 0131 460 1196

Meeting ID: 788 838 668

Wednesday 17 June - Midday Prayer at 12.15pm

Readings: Psalm 45; Matthew 9: 35-end

Music: Taizé Alleluia and Gloria Dial-in number: 0131 460 1196

Meeting ID: 159 391 586

Join from your computer, smartphone or tablet

A Prayer for the Archbishop of York Designate

Generous God, we give you thanks: you have heard our prayer, guided your people and raised up Stephen to serve as the next Archbishop of York. By your Holy Spirit, grant to him good counsel, holy insight and joy in the gospel, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.